

Friday 10th July 2020

Dear Families,

As we complete the penultimate week of this academic year, our thoughts and planning are very much ensuring as smooth a start to next year as possible.

I want to give you an overview of the communications that you can expect next week:

- On Monday, you will be receiving a transition video from your child's new class teacher with a summer challenge.
- On Monday, new Reception entrants will receive their settling in schedule and their virtual meet the teacher slot.
- Your child's end of year report will be on its way to you either via post or via your child if they are currently in school.
- On Friday you will receive comprehensive details of the key information that you will need for September onwards. It is really important that you read through this carefully. It relies on everyone following the new procedures in order for it to work.
- We will be sending a summer holiday home learning guide which will help your child to refresh key skills before they return in September. It is very important that you all have a break but in order to keep their minds ticking, we have created a key skills guide to help you.

I am very aware that there is a lot of information to take in which is why I will wait until the new term to share with you:

- Our plans to support the mental health and wellbeing of our school community
- Our plans for learning in the case of further school closure or individual children needing to isolate
- New plans for homework to help you to further support your child's learning
- Baseline assessments for early in the autumn term so that we can sharply plan exactly what your child needs to get back on track
- Developed communication through the use of Class Dojo to keep you regularly updated on what your child is learning and experiencing at school

We have learnt so much over the last few weeks and it has given us a chance to be innovative with our plans moving forward. We are excited to raise the bar again on what we deliver as a school and we are looking forward to working closely with you at each step.

Have a lovely weekend,

Mrs Kluzek
